

Appendix 2

Data collection method decision path

When designing your research, consider per (sub-)question whether data collection is needed. If a (sub-)question requires data collection, then follow the arrow in the diagram below to determine the most suitable method. Sometimes questions require two or more data collection methods.

